Homecoming Plans Made

THE OCE LAMORON

VOLUME XXVI

OREGON COLLEGE OF EDUCATION, MONDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1948

NUMBER 3

Need For Teachers Discussed

In a letter to Marshall M. Dana, editor of the editorial page of the Oregon Journal, Dr. Henry M. Gunn, OCE president, answered several questions on the cause of elementary teacher shortage in Oregon. He also gave his views on what to do to remedy this problem. The following article consists of several excerpts taken from this letter and from the guest editorial which appeared in the Oregon Journal. They appear in an abbreviated question and answer form.

Question: "What is wrong with the teachers colleges of Oregon?"

Answer: "The main cause is the low salary of the training school supervisors. Until this year, the average pay has been $3000. This is less than the students they are training usually get during their first year. However, this is being remedied. This year, the minimum wage is $3500.

Question: "Why don't they turn out teachers enough, qualified enough, to meet the needs of public education in this state?"

Answer: "The most recent study on teacher supply and demand was made by Ray C. Maul for the National Education Association and is entitled 'Teacher Supply and Demand in the United States.' Some of the significant findings of this study follow.

1. The United States needs 100,000 additional elementary teachers.

2. Forty-three states now issue emergency certificates in order to meet this shortage.

3. Despite greatly increased post-war college enrollments, there is a negligible increase in the number of college students who are preparing for teaching in the elementary school.

4. There is little prospect of relief from overcrowded classroom conditions existing in many places, to say nothing of the provision for enlarged enrollments in the lower grades.

5. Little progress has been made (Continued on Page Two)

Committee Heads Named for Event

Council Member Announced

At the regular student council meeting last Monday night, October 11, Bill Floyd was elected to fill the position of publicity chairman in the social-educational council. Scott Thomas, elected at last spring's polls for this position is not on the OCE campus this fall.

The duties of the publicity commissioner are primarily to publicize the school through local and state papers. The following is a quoted statement from Bill as to his views on this position: "A small school needs to be advertised more than a large one, therefore I feel that the position of publicity commissioner is a very important one. In the past, OCE has not been given its rightful recognition.

Cooperation of All Students Needed

Homecoming! The big event of the year! The students who are put in charge of engineering the event may be seen sweating over preparations for weeks before the big event, and recuperating for weeks afterward. This year, Bruce E. Hamilton and Barbara Brose have been put in charge of activities for the Alums. They have been, and are being, assisted by numerous committees and service clubs on the campus. The one central thought of all these people is to make this, the third post-war homecoming, the biggest and the most enjoyable one in the history of OCE.

This year we have another group which will be represented on the campus during the big event. This group will be from the Dads' club which was organized last year. They will be entertained under the directions of Wally Agee.

Although all these people are doing a great job, it is impossible for them to do everything. In order for this year's homecoming to be the success that we are all hoping it will be, the full cooperation of each and every campus student is needed.

STUDENTS ATTEND OPERA

Twenty OCE students were among the large audience present at the stage production of Sigmund Romberg's "The Desert Song," presented at the Mayfair theater in Portland on Wednesday, October 13.

The students traveled by bus, leaving Monmouth at 6 p.m. and returning around 2:15 a.m. Outside of being sleepy, the comments heard were "It was wonderful," "the music was beautiful," and "it's worth seeing again."

Record Program Foretold

Barbara Brose and Bruce E. Hamilton, co-chairmen of the Homecoming week-end, have announced that this homecoming will be the biggest program ever to be presented to the returning alumni who will be our guests on October 22, 23, 24. From the looks of all the hustle and bustle in the council room headquarters, it seems that their commitments are certainly right. For instance, in past years, the number of letters going out to alumni averaged around 400. However Barbara and Bruce tell us that approximately 1200 grads have been contacted to date.

Browsing over the schedule of events will show anyone that they can't afford to miss such a gigantic event as this.

The week-end will officially begin at 7 p.m. Friday when everyone gathers in the grove for a pep rally. The OCE band will be on hand for this occasion to add to the spirit of the plans that Shirley and Barney have formulated.

From the grove the throng will move to the freshmen bonfire, which will be touched off at 7:30 sharp (unless someone else beats them to it!)

At 8 p.m. the stadium west of the campus will be scene of the Homecoming football game, the (Continued on Page Three)

Best Wishes Sent By OCE Grad Of '93

Sorry, my grandchildren might enjoy the Homecoming activities had they graduated from Monmouth. However, I could not hope that many of the class of '93 would or could be there for the Homecoming. I am sure you will all have a rousing good time—you have my best wishes.

Signed—Fred Trullinger, Vancouver, Washington
(Editor's note: This class that Mr. Trullinger graduated with was the group that organized the "50 Year Club." They held their first meeting in 1943. Each year since that, the class of 50 years ago has met on the campus for graduation.)

Gershwin And Beethoven Featured At Jessica Todd Recorded Music Hour

Featuring the melodious strains of Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" and "Porgy and Bess," the weekly recorded concerts got underway last night in the J. Todd hall music room. This event was started last year by a former student of OCE and is being continued this year under the guidance of George O. Forgard and John H. Ulrich. Following the Gershwin records, there was a short intermission during which refreshments were served. The evening was brought to a close with Beethoven's "Symphony No. 6" (Pastoral.)

Beginning at 8 p.m., similar programs will be offered each week-end. According to the directors, every effort will be made to meet the requests of the audience. The program is intended to cover what is usually referred to as "good" music. Anyone who wishes to listen to other types of music may do so at his own convenience.

The programs proved a decided success last year and it is the hope of the two young men in charge that they can keep their program up to the previous standard.

Swimmers Call Trip Success

With Coach Bill McArthur as chaperon, 20 OCE aquatic enthusiasts traveled to Corvallis last week for the first Wednesday evening swim period. The group, made up entirely of men, were reported to have been a very spirited group on the trip down—and greatly subdued on the return trip. Could it be that swimming requires more effort than the classroom routine?

Those who went on the trip reported they had had a very enjoyable evening, and most of them were ready to sign up for next week. A game of water polo was played, or a reasonable facsimile thereof, and the guys are wondering whether it was this or the evening as a whole that made it so difficult for them to hit the deck at the proper time the following morning.

Notices for this week's trip will be posted by tomorrow and anyone wishing to go should sign the slip as early as possible.

History Of Former Practices Throws Light on Reason For OCE Whiskerino

Back in the moss-covered ages when Hector was a pup, the ancient and honorable practice of beard growing was accomplished easily by man. Sprouting whiskers was considered a natural thing, and if man ever thought about it at all, he concluded that every other male had them so why shouldn't he?

At this time, no particular attention was paid to the shape, form or condition of the chin coverings; man merely combed it out with his fingers, or toes, if it was long enough, to remove any little guests which became bothersome.

Through all the ages man has had a beard. As civilization progressed, certain pretty boys started trimming here and there (perhaps somebody's wife pushed him (Continued on Page Two)

HOMECOMING—1948

How does that old song go? "there is no place like home." Most students from OCE or any other college will agree with this phrase, and it will make them think of the things they find when they return home after an absence. They will think of a chicken dinner, their favorite pie, or maybe the gal, or guy, that lives next door. In other words, most of them will be thinking of the home they were raised in.

Other groups think of other things at the mention of returning home. Each year, along about this time, there is one group in which OCE is vitally interested. This is the group of alumni who have a couple thoughts of the good old times they spent on the campus while they were attending school, and also of the good times they have had when they have met with others with whom they were in school.

Next Friday evening a goodly number of this group will again appear in Monmouth to celebrate their annual homecoming. A vote of thanks should go to Barbara and Bruce for the fine job they are doing in making preparations for the alums, and to Wally who is arranging entertainment for the Dads who will be present.

However, this is not enough. It is impossible for a few students and their committees to shoulder the entire load and to make it a success. It will take the whole-hearted cooperation of each and every student on the campus if this week-end is made into one that will be remembered for many years to come.

into a buzz-saw) and the result pleased everyone. From then on various styles of beards can be distinguished. Each man grew something which was best suited to his natural capacities or position. Along in here somewhere the side-burns, mutton chops, goatees, and "Oh, Grampa!" made their appearance.

Near the end of the last century some joker who was unable to grow any hirsute adornments, made quite a hit with the ladies, who, by this time, were probably very tired of coming in contact with a kisser like a porcupine or a mass of underbrush. As in everything, this decision by the fair sex that old prickles were out and old smoothies were in, has changed the entire male social system. No longer was the boy with the imposing crop on his chin considered top dog. National razor sales boomed. Poor Joes with anemic chins were no longer able to conceal this defect, and the advent of the manly chin was at hand.

This deplorable condition has continued to our present day and only in the cases of castaways, sheep herders, whiskerinos, and the Smith Brothers, is the old-time glory perpetuated. An American way of life has passed! No more will imposing hairy appendages bespeak man's station in life. No more will that unique sound be heard—snoring through the whiskers.

The Forensics club held their second meeting of the year last Tuesday noon. Mr. George Harding disclosed that the question for the year is "Resolved, that the federal government should equalize educational opportunities in tax supported schools by means of annual grants."

The question was discussed and it was soon found that there is very sufficient grounds for argument. Some plans for the year were discussed and it was decided that the group will meet each Thursday noon.

Looking the group over, many new faces were seen and made welcome. These new students included Stanley Brown, Howard Forsten, Boyd Hillsland, Byron Hindman, Howard Schull, Rodney Petty, Helen Taylor, and Barbara Anderson. In addition to these students, were the students who were taking competitive speaking last year. This old group consisted of Jewelle Schmidt, Helen Mattison, Ann Petty, Gerald Hamann, Bill Floyd, and Les McKim. Absent from the old group was Don Leavitt, minister of the Christian church.

Staff Considers OSEA Chapter

A Meeting to consider the establishment of an Oregon State Employees Association chapter at OCE will be held in room 116 of Campbell hall on Wednesday, Oct. 20, at 7:30 p.m. All regular employees of OCE are eligible for membership.

This association was beneficial in securing the State Retirement act in 1945 and the improvement to the law in 1947 and carried much of the responsibility for procuring the temporary cost of living increase in wages for civil service staff.

Lamron Memoirs

Looking through some 10-year old issues of the Lamron, we see that "The Lambeth Walk" and "Alexander's Ragtime Band" captivated the heart and soul of every boy and girl at Jessica Todd hall's Dessert Dance.

Sylvia Claggett was in charge of costumes for a Crimson O drama, "The Wasp."

In line with campus tradition, a majority of the OCE men students were sporting chin whiskers.

Homecoming was a big success. The Wolves beat Southern Oregon 19-9 on Homecoming. Incidentally, OCE beat Ashland again a week later at SOCE's Homecoming by a score of 6-0.

Crimson O celebrated its 10th anniversary and the Wolf Knights came into being.

Arnold Arms

The Burglars outplayed the Arnold Arms team the first quarter and scored the first thing, even though Arnold Arms pushed them down the two-yard line for a no score. Their first touchdown was made in the third quarter with Young passing to Tilden. The conversion try by Humble was ruled no good. At the end of the third quarter the score was 6-6, but Arnold Arms scored again to finish the game ahead 12-6.

One of the outstanding players was Bob Young who threw the passes for Arnold Arms. Bob played football and basketball four years and baseball three years in high school. Besides his athletic record he has spent a year overseas. Bob is from Forest Grove.

We fellows of Arnold Arms are proud of our place and to improve it have cleaned up the grounds. In front the lawn has been mowed and a fence put around it to encourage the growth of grass in the bare spots. We hope it impressed our visitors last week-end. They were: Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Howard, Harold's folks; Mrs. Brown, Stan's mother, and his two brothers; and Jerry Shultz's aunt, who baked a cake for the third floor.

Mr. Noxon, our adviser, was one of the faculty who spent Thursday and Friday in Eugene conducting a workshop on science for elementary teachers.

Harold Howard went out in his back yard over this week-end and killed a deer. But we still have had no steak dinners here at the house.

Instead of our house being known as Arnold Arms, it could just as well be called the Arctic Circle, at least until our heating system is installed. Because of this Willis Love was admitted to the

Collecto Coeds

At their first meeting of the year, September 28, Collecto Coeds were faced with the problem of electing a new president. Verne (Smith) Nasman gave the acquisition of her new last name as one of several good reasons for her resignation as leader of the Collectos. The club started this fall term with only eight members, five of whom already held office so of the three remaining members, Cordelia Wilken was unanimously elected to the presidency.

After this business was taken care of, a joint meeting was held with Staff and Key. The two clubs voted to wait two terms before taking in freshmen.

The Collectos' second meeting was a short one in which plans were made for selling hot dogs at the Pacific college-OCE game. Also it was decided that the meeting time should be changed to 6:30 on Thursday evenings.

infirmary with near pneumonia the first part of this week, to say nothing of the colds all the other members have.

Tuesday, October 12, representatives of Lucky Strike cigarettes were here, showed up a movie on the manufacture of their produce, and passed out free samples.

From all indications around the campus, the Hobo Date Dance scheduled for October 16 at our house, is really going to be a gala affair.

Chest Drive Starts Monday

The Community Chest drive starts today with this county setting one of the highest goals in its history. Three of the OCE faculty members are actively participating in the drive. Oscar C. Christensen is in charge of organizing the county, Roy E. Lieualien is over Monmouth, and Matthew R. Thompson is giving the word to the rest of the faculty.

According to Mr. Lieualien, it is the gift that really counts and not the amount. "If each student would give 25 cents," he said, "we could well be proud of our contribution."

Teacher Needs

(Continued from Page One) since the close of the war in stabilizing the teaching profession through improvement in tenure, uniform salary schedules recognizing qualifications, or retirement provisions.

"The fifth of these findings is probably the chief cause of the other findings. The three state normal schools are working diligently to recruit able young people into the profession. Our efforts have had some effect, but not enough."

Question: "Why do so few Oregon-educated teachers attain the higher positions of executive responsibility and educational leadership in Oregon?"

In answering this question, Dr. Gunn proved the fallacy of the statement by presenting examples of numerous leaders in all the major cities and schools in Oregon who are Oregon-educated. A general summary of his reply would be that, among the cities in Oregon where Oregon-educated teachers are not prevalent, Portland, The Dalles, Pendleton, and Hood River are the major ones.

Question: "Where will we find the badly needed teachers for our schools?"

Answer: "The nation is now short 100,000 elementary teachers. Oregon and all the other states are confronted with the problem of finding good teachers for their elementary schools."

"Last year there were about 800 students enrolled in elementary teacher training in Oregon. This year there may be 900. We should have an enrollment of at least 3000 in this field if we are to have trained teachers for our elementary classrooms. This situation is characteristic of practically all the other states in the union. Where will we find our teachers?"

"The main source of supply is our young people who are now enrolling in college and university. College enrollment is at an all time high, hence, able young people are available. What can be done to recruit them?"

"Three things are required on the part of the community.

"Salary schedules that justify the training required to become an elementary teacher.

"Classrooms which are not overcrowded. The state standards for the elementary class is 25 children for the first three grades. The standard for grades four to eight is 30 children.

"A status in the community which is accorded professional people. This is probably the most important of all the community requirements in recruiting good teachers for our children. Unless people of the community believe that teaching their children is an important task, young people are not likely to think so either.

An interesting sidelight to this question is the fact that statistics show the U.S. will need 1,390,000 new teachers in the next 10 years."

Red Gate Players Coming Wednesday

A special assembly is scheduled for Wednesday, October 20, at 1 p.m. At this time the East-West Association will give a Chinese shadow play, "The Legend of the Willow Plate," which is presented by the Red Gate Players.

This play is under the direction of Miss Pauline Benton, an authority on the folk arts of China.

The Red Gate Players use the Chinese shadow plays to interpret to their audiences Chinese art, music, drama, and customs.

Staff & Key

Staff and Key met Thursday night to formulate plans for the biggest event of fall term, the annual All-American formal, to be held on December 4.

Because so many of our 15 members have been suffering from frozen fingertips, we unanimously voted to sell coffee rather than cokes at the Homecoming game.

Staff and Key will, for the first time in several years, again sell copies of OCE songs, so if you missed your chance to buy them at the gate Friday night, contact any member of Staff and Key.

Crimson O

Calling a special meeting of the campus dramatic students last Monday night was John Ulrich, president of Crimson O. The primary purpose of this meeting was to inform all prospective members that tryouts will be held tonight, October 18, at 7 o'clock. All students who are interested in dramatics and who would like to join the club are cordially invited to try-out. To do this, merely find a partner, pick a passage out of a play, and display your talents before the club. You do not need to memorize any lines, just read them. Anyone who has the sincere desire to belong to this only dramatic club at OCE may do so by going through the above procedure and getting the vote of the club's members.

Crimson O meets the first and third Mondays of each month. All members are requested to attend these meetings.

SCA News

The SCA program planning committee met at Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Thompson's home in Vets' Village Monday night, October 11, for the purpose of making out a tentative activity program for the year.

Gwen Stillwell, president of SCA, was forced to resign because of her responsibilities as dorm president.

The meeting was closed by singing "Abide With Me," after which Mrs. Thompson served cookies and hot chocolate.

The next meeting of SCA is planned for 8 o'clock tonight in the music room of Jessica Todd hall with Mr. Thompson beginning a series of discussions on the topic: "Can We Believe in a Person God?" Everyone is invited.

Psych Movies Being Shown

Influence of environment upon early childhood is the subject of a series of three movies Delmer R. Dewey has arranged for his psychology classes and other students who are free to attend.

One depicting the early life of a Navajo child was shown in the auditorium in the administration building last week, and the other two will be shown before the end of November.

Subjects of the latter movies are the influence exerted on the infant during the first few days at the hospital and the conditioning of children that may take place at clinics.

West House

This week, West House is proud to introduce another man who is new to our campus. Dick Chatterton is a transfer from the Vaport Extension Center, a vet, and fisherman during his summer vacation. He says that he likes his newly-adopted school very much and is very thankful to a certain buddy who recommended OCE to him.

Dick is 22 and, as is common among guys of his age and experience, he finds the routine of school life trying at times. He graduated from high school at Newport, which is his home town, in 1943. A little less than a year later he yielded to the romantic pictures drawn by the naval recruiting officer and left for the lovely mountains of northern Idaho where he attended a training camp better known to the common man as Farragut.

From then until May, 1946, he traveled extensively. Dick attended a school for amphibious sailors at Coronado, Calif., and he says that, contrary to the claims of the native Californian, California had nothing that left a yearning in his heart.

After leaving California on a navy transport, Dick visited those romantic, tropical islands of Hawaii, Eniwetock, Ulithi, and Okinawa. While traveling through this part of the country, he sat in on some fire works then proceeded to China. By this time he held a rating of signalman 2nd class. He spent some time helping the navy and the army occupy Korea and then finally returned home.

A little salt was still being pumped through his veins so he started fishing. He still follows this occupation during the summer.

West House lost its first game of touch football to Claude Buckley and his Rustlers last Wednesday evening. However, the boys looked good and they are planning on making their next game a different story.

Lyle Hayes has the honor of being the first West House casualty of the year. He made the mistake of having his cheek in front of a cleat during football scrimmage with the Monmouth high school last Tuesday.

Wolf Knights

A meeting was held last Thursday night to welcome the three new members into Wolf Knights. The new members are Carl Peoples, Bruce E. Hamilton, and Lester McKim.

The Community Chest drive was discussed by the members and several suggestions were made for raising funds.

Several members were selected to act as ushers at the chapel service on Sunday, October 24, and several others volunteered to work on the ticket gates at the OCE-Klamath Falls Vocational school game last Friday.

Sigma Ep. Pi

Sigma Epsilon Pi held its first meeting Thursday evening under direction of its new president, Louise Kinney. Future plans of sponsoring a semi-formal sometime in the future were discussed. All members are urged to attend the next meeting which will be held on Tuesday, October 19, at 6:30 p.m., at which time more definite plans will be laid.

Homecoming Plans

biggest game of the season with the Wolves pounding away at their southern neighbors from SOCE. "Mac" seemed well pleased with the showing of the team last week-end and claims that we will be in there all the way. So let's make this a game to remember in the history of winning football games of OCE. There will be half-time entertainment composed of a wagon race and tug of war between the frosh and sophomores.

Immediately after the contest there will be a get-together dance for everyone in the rec hall, with a short ceremony dedicating the new snack bar.

Saturday is the big day for all alums, with many opportunities being offered to renew those old acquaintances. Registration will start things off at 9 a.m. in the rec hall, followed by an alumni meeting in the same place. All the grads will be feted at a luncheon at 12:15 which also will be held in the rec hall.

Barbara Gates claims that a combination of talent "fit for Broadway" is ready for the show to be held at 2 p.m. in the auditorium of Campbell hall.

The annual alumni banquet is scheduled for 5:30 p.m. in the Todd hall dining room. Everyone knows that with Miss Claggett in charge, this could be nothing short of sensational.

The greatest dance of the year, the annual Homecoming Dance, is slated for Saturday evening from 9 to 12. Kurt Kenon and his orchestra will supply the music for this gala affair. Kurt recently was a top sensation as Charlie Barnett's lead trombone played and we hear that all his arrangements are written by a member of Charlie Spivak's band. It sounds good, it is good, so let's all turn out to make this the highlight of the week-end.

Sunday morning at 10 o'clock the annual Homecoming Chapel service will be held with Dr. Raymond A. Withey, Jr., of Willamette university, as the man speaker. This is to be held in the auditorium of Campbell hall.

As far as a theme for the week-end is concerned, it has been decided to use "Sock SOCE!" and that's just what everyone plans to do.

Southern Oregon will be tough, unequivocally stated Coach McArthur. The reason for his alarm is their 49-24 beating of Cal. Aggies. The Red Raiders scored seven touchdowns via the aerial route and, according to McArthur, this means a lot of work on pass defense this week. All of the Southern Oregon's eleven, victors over the Wolves by a 20-0 count last year, will be back except for last year's Little All-American, Chuck D'Autremont. Jandreau handles the quarterback spot in the Raiders' "T" formation. McArthur, never optimistic, makes no prediction other than that the team will be in there fighting!

There is a bright side to the homecoming game, however. Last year, against a heavily favored

H.S. Coach Acts As Assistant Coach

JOHN J. CHAMBERLAIN

When the Wolves trot out on the field to take up their stand against SOCE next Friday, the OCE students may well give a vote of thanks to Mr. John J. Chamberlain. Mr. Chamberlain is instructor of physical education at the Monmouth high school and has been very capably assisting Coach McArthur in the capacity of line coach to the Wolves.

Coach McArthur states that Mr. Chamberlain "has been a great deal of help." A sidelight on the deal is the reciprocity policy between McArthur and Chamberlain. John helps Mac with his line, and Mac helps John with his high school backs.

Originally from Somerset, Kentucky, Mr. Chamberlain attended Georgetown college in Georgetown, Kentucky, where, in addition to his studies, he played tackle and guard positions in football.

Mr. Chamberlain and his wife, Mary, are enjoying their first year at Monmouth. Before coming here, he taught at Adrian and at Phoenix, Oregon.

Both coaches believe that the forthcoming game with SOCE, scheduled for Homecoming, October 22, may be tough but that the Wolves will be ready for battle.

Buckley sparked the Rustlers to a 20-0 triumph over a scrappy crew from West House. The strong armed quarterback fired scoring passes to Jim Wilson, Jack May, and Herb Kirby, and topped off the day's scoring by passing to May for two points after touchdowns. Incidentally, this same Jack May now holds the league scoring lead, having tallied eight points.

K. Falls Tipped in Best Game of Season

A highly spirited and strong OCE eleven trampled the Klamath Falls Vocational School last Friday evening, coming out on top of a 19-6 score. The Wolves were in there all the way, with Coach Bill McArthur commenting that his boys played their finest game of the season.

This contest might well be called a tune-up job for the annual Homecoming game with SOCE to be held this week-end. Our southern neighbors were scouting this game and their coach is quoted as saying something to the effect of, "I feel confident that our boys will take this tussle next week-end." However our boy "Mac" informs us that his team is ready to really "Sock SOCE!"

Getting back to last Friday's game, we find that the Wolves scored their first tally late in the opening quarter on a pass from Johnson to Ramey, who put it over from the one yard line. Don Ruecker's conversion was good, making the score 7-0, OCE.

It looked as if the southerners were on their way in the second period, when a Redke to Daugherty pass was good for 30 yards. However, on the next play, "Rapid Robin Lee" intercepted a Redke toss, thus setting the ball in play for the Monmouth boys.

A hard charging Owl line managed to halt this attempt temporarily but an experienced, powerhouse, OCE backfield composed of Ramey, Lee, Johnson, and Van Loo, seemed too much for the K.F. boys and once again the Wolves hit pay dirt with Van Loo racing 18 yards for the score. McFarland raced in to block Ruecker's attempted conversion thus ending the half with "K" Falls behind 13-0.

Several times in the third period the Wolves threatened, when finally on a series of runs by Van Loo and Ramey, the pigskin was set up for scoring. From here Van Loo cut through the line going 18 yards for the third score, two of which he accounted for personally. The early minutes of the final period found the Owls taking charge of the ball on the 50 yard line and marching to the 11, from which point Redke sliced his way over for six points. The kick was blocked and the score stood OCE 19, KFVS 6.

Throughout the remainder of the game both squads battled back and forth fairly even until the waning seconds saw a Johnson to Lee pass fall just short of another OCE touchdown.

Figuring highly in the winning of the game for Monmouth was Gale Davis whose drive and sprit made him the star of the show in any coach's book. One other was the running and defensive play of big Sam Ramey who just seemed to find himself this week-end. Of course Corkey Van Loo and Robin Lee displayed excellent ball playing throughout the whole evening. Scores:

	OCE	KF
First downs	11	11
Yards rushing	227	124
Yards passing	19	95
